“Cabernet franc, malbec, merlot and petit verdot. A Bordeaux blend without cabernet sauvignon! Its vibrant crimson-purple hue sets the scene for a pretty red and blackcurrant-fruited wine. Designed for consumption over the next 5 years, its balance will ensure it lives for much longer than that.”

“Deep red with a purple rim and a red fruit, raspberry, leaf and mint aroma which is clean and fresh. The palate is medium-bodied at best, soft and balanced, with attractive straightforward fruit flavor backed up by some firm tannins. Bright fruit and fairly low extract. A pleasant red to drink relatively young.”

“This is a finely wrought blend of cabernet franc, merlot, malbec, and petit verdot. It glides on blue and black berry fruits and rails of fine, silky tannins. There’s a whiff of bay leaf, mint and pepper. There’s great extension to the wines flavours. It’s even, mild, medium weight and very tasty.”

“Margaret River blend of Cabernet Franc, Malbec, Merlot and Petit Verdot. It’s an admirable wine. All lovers of cabernet would enjoy this wine. It has structure, it has fruit, it has a seriousness and yet it simply drinks well. It feels, flows, tastes and impresses like a ‘real’ wine. It tastes of bay leaves and Pez, blackcurrant dusty, stringy herbs. Tannin spreads like a fine-spun web. It’s a good wine, without complications.”
